Happy Friday!

Let's Be Creative! with LBC

Every day at 1pm, seven days a week, we’re releasing a new arts video on the LBC Facebook page where students of all ages and their families will be able to learn and participate in the arts from their own homes.

We’re so grateful for the wonderful feedback we’ve received on our videos. If you haven’t yet, take a look through the playlist of videos on Facebook to see if there are anything that would be helpful to your students. Have an idea you’d like to share with us? Let us know what you’d like to see!

This coming week, we’ll continue our live dance and improv classes, share more ukulele and guitar lessons, explore the popular children’s book The Gruffalo, and even make our own juggling balls!

Community Resources

We have a lot of wonderful partners in the community who are also working hard to connect teachers and students to learning opportunities as we continue to shelter-in-place. Check out a few of our favorites this week:

Our friends at the Green Music Center have compiled a list of music, dance, and theatre artists who are offering live streams and recently recorded performances. This great list also includes performances and activities for children and families. You’re sure to find something that inspires you!

Over at the Children’s Museum of Sonoma County, the team has put together a list of resources ranging from talking to children about COVID-19 to virtual story times and at-home activities. There are even some great DIY videos! Take a look for yourself!

The Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts has launched their new Lincoln Center at Home portal, which enables families and communities to keep the performing arts front and center. With multiple performances, workshops, and concerts each day, the Lincoln Center is providing a wealth of opportunities to enjoy the arts while social distancing.
We are continuing to explore options to adapt our residencies to digital format wherever possible. If you’re interested in bringing LBC arts-integrated residencies to your students this year but have not scheduled with us this year, feel free to reach out to Hannah Keefer to discuss options that would work for you and your students.

The Teacher’s Lounge

This week, as a part of our Drop the Mic series, our Programming Department has pulled together fun clips of chefs we love under quarantine and a few cool culinary resources to survive SIP. Check out our latest post from April 15th, Eat Your Feelings!

Last Friday we were thrilled to present another talented artist in our Luther Locals series with the help of Johnny Young. Hailing from Northern California, Johnny is an award-winning Nashville recording artist, gifted guitarist, and talented singer-songwriter. He has spent his life immersed in music and entertaining audiences since age six and remains as passionate as ever about music. He is currently working on a full-length album due to be released in the spring of 2020. Check out his mini-concert from last week and look for this week’s Luther Locals episode, which will drop tonight at 5pm!
