Happy Friday!

Let's Be Creative! with LBC

We're thrilled to share with you the launch of our virtual arts education program: Let's Be Creative! Every day at 1pm, seven days a week, we're releasing a new arts video on the LBC Facebook page where students of all ages and their families will be able to learn and participate in the arts from their own homes.

Last week, we shared tutorials on making nature collages, chords for guitar and ukulele, interactive dance and improvisation classes, and storytime with creative drama activities. You can check out all these videos and more in our YouTube playlist here. Feel free to share with your students or use in your lessons as you see fit!

This coming week, we'll have even more exciting videos and live Zoom classes including collage making, instrument care, and much, more! If you're interested in sharing the Zoom classes with your students, you can find the information on our website.

Digital Residencies

It has been awe-inspiring to watch as teachers across the nation have risen to the challenge of providing digital learning for their students with so little time or guidance. While most of our residencies are currently unavailable digitally, we are exploring how to adapt and will let you know of any residencies that become available for a digital format. If you had a residency currently scheduled and want to know whether it may become available digitally, please contact Hannah Keefer.

If you're interested in bringing LBC arts-integrated residencies to your students this year but have not scheduled with us this year, feel free to reach out to discuss options that would work for you and your students.

we have a lot of wonderful partners in the community who are also working hard to connect teachers and students to learning opportunities as we continue to shelter-in-place. Check out a few of our favorites this week:

The Charles M. Schulz Museum and Peanuts.com have shared this great Peanuts Gang Family Resource Gallery from Young Minds Inspired; here you will find downloadable activity pages that allow students to reinforce SEL skills while learning about the Peanuts characters.

Our friends at Transcendence Theatre Company have responded to the shelter-in-place order by launching their Learn @ Home series: free and fun online arts integrated curriculum for elementary aged students. We're so impressed with what they're up to. Check it out for yourself!

Just for Teachers

Introducing two great digital entertainment opportunities for when you need to put up your feet and relax!

Drop the Mic: Watch for LBC's weekly curated guide to all that is fun and entertaining with Drop the Mic on LBC's Facebook page. Drop the Mic will include Spotify Jams, YouTube clips, online resources and great suggestions for ways in which you can enjoy the arts from home!

Luther Locals: Every Friday, the LBC will be featuring a local artist with a special performance on Facebook. Help us support the amazing talent in Sonoma County and connect our community with these great "mini-concerts" by tuning in and sharing.
