LBCs Artists in the Schools residencies ARE BACK!

LBCs Artists in the Schools residencies ARE BACK! The LBC Education Team took some time to evaluate its Artists in the Schools program to ensure that it was meeting the needs of educators, students and the community. We are proud and excited to offer 14 all new engaging and relevant projects this year that integrate Science & Music, Drama, & ELA, Art & Math and much more. Residencies include six lessons in your classroom plus a pre-planning meeting between you and the teaching artist leading the work. Each hour-long lesson is packed with information and inspiration for your students and you! For more information about the program check lutherburbankcenter.org or call Tracy Sawyer at 707-800-7529.

LBC’s Music for Schools

LBC’s Music for Schools is a lending library full of instruments music teachers can borrow for students who might otherwise not have the opportunity to participate in school band or orchestra. We’ve loaned out over 200 instruments so far and still have instruments available for your school. For more information about the program check lutherburbankcenter.org or call Tracy Sawyer at 707-800-7529.

ARTISTS IN THE SCHOOLS
NEW ARTS INTEGRATION RESIDENCIES!

Bringing artists into your classroom, each of LBC’s new arts integration residencies leads your students through six interactive sessions that combine an art form and another academic content area to delve deeper into learning. Residencies start at $475 and are adaptable to fit your needs. Additional fees and terms may apply.
Grid Technique Transfer and Photorealism Art
Visual Art & Math
Teaching Artist: Mary Beth Sasso
Grades 4-8
Max # per class: 30

What do photorealism and math have in common? In this residency, students will learn the close relationship between math and photorealism art. The term photorealism means "photo" indicating that photography is the visual source material and "realism" indicates that the finished works are precise and representational. Math intersects art in one model artists use to transfer an image—the creation of a grid system. Students employ this method and by using multiplication, ratio, and fractions, creating meticulously executed compositions with highly finished surfaces, extreme detail, visual distortion, and often an altered sense of scale.

Enhancing Social Emotional Learning with Taiko Drumming
Music & Social Emotional Learning
Teaching Artist: Meg Mizutani
Grades 3-8
Max # per class: 22

Taiko, the art of Japanese drumming, is a simple yet powerful tool for community building. In this residency, while practicing basic taiko drumming and preparing for a mini-recital culmination, students learn how to express themselves creatively, respect and appreciate everyone's unique contribution to a group, trust and support each other, and experience the joy of harmony. This dynamic residency is led by Meg Mizutani, educator and taiko instructor of Sonoma County Taiko.

Laying the Foundation: Defining and Applying Arts Integration to Readers
Theater and Social Emotional Skills with Ray Gargano
for teachers of grades K-12, administrators, arts specialists, and teaching artists
NEW DATE!
Thursday, October 18, 8:00 am – 3:00 pm
This full-day session is filled with practical lessons you can take directly into your classroom and immediately begin integrating the arts into your lessons. The day begins by unpacking the Kennedy Center’s Definition of Arts Integration and gives you the opportunity to uncover the characteristics of quality integration. In addition, the session includes your participation in an arts integrated lesson and examines how arts integrated instruction aligns with current learning principles and best practices. The day wraps up by looking at how social emotional learning skills are enhanced through arts integrated activities.

Digital Storytelling: Photography as a Writing Tool with Paige Whelan
for teachers of grades 3-8
Tuesday, November 6, 8:00 – 11:00 am
When students go through the writing process like photographers, they engage in a collaborative, visual process that engages and supports a diverse group of learners. In this workshop, participants learn how to guide young authors as they use storyboards to organize their stories into a series of pictorial scenes, then direct their classmates in photo shoots to create digital picture albums they can reference as they write. Participants should bring their tablet or laptop and camera for this exciting hands-on workshop!

Erth’s Prehistoric Aquarium Adventure
Grades K-6
Wednesday, October 24, 9:30 am
Join us on an all new adventure from the company which brought us Dinosaur Zoo Live! Head back in time with this immersive experience into unknown ocean depths where prehistoric marine reptiles lived eons ago—and maybe live even today! Erth’s trademark blend of actors, technology, and puppets create an amazing visual experience, connecting young audiences to the science of paleontology.

Lewis & Clark
A Celebration of Teamwork with Patrick Garner
in association with TheatreworksUSA
Grades 1-6
Tuesday, November 6, 9:30 am
With incredible stage actor Patrick Garner leading the way, students take on the roles of Lewis and Clark, as well as Sacagawea, the Corps of Discovery, and many others as we explore the newly acquired Louisiana Purchase. Experience the daring escapes, unknown beasts, and scenic majesty which were part of their two-and-a-half year long adventure. This interactive production returns to explore a great American voyage of discovery steeped in history science, character development, and teamwork.
The Magic School Bus
Lost in the Solar System
by TheatreworksUSA
Grades K-5
Monday, December 10, 9:30 am
When the class gets lost on the way to the planetarium, Ms. Frizzle saves the day by blasting into outer space for an epic interplanetary field trip! But as rivalries both old and new threaten to tear the students apart, our young heroes must learn to pull together or risk getting forever lost in the solar system. Hop on the Magic School Bus for a ride in this new musical adaptation based on the famed original book series published by Scholastic.

Peter Gros
from the Original Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom
Grades PK-6
Monday, January 28, 9:30 am
Peter Gros, former co-host and current ambassador for the original Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom returns to LBC to share our exciting world of animals, his travel experiences, and his timeless tales. With nearly 30 years of field experience with captive wildlife, Peter still makes frequent appearances on LIVE With Kelly and Ryan, The Today Show, The Tonight Show, and Animal Planet. He highlights his many adventures with a mix of video clips and inspirational stories while introducing friendly exotic animals to the audience, teaching about the importance of conservation.
